

UMF Community Guidelines

Trust & Respect

The new UMF online community bases on a certain level of confidence. We trust in your sense of responsibility. This online platform is only able to thrive when all participants obey our community guidelines. First of all, these principles exist to guarantee trust and respect among all users. So please act trustworthy – and have fun!

Clip Control

On legal grounds, UMF inspects all transmitted videos/contributions before publication. All videos/contributions reported as inappropriate will be controlled separately to check compliance with our community/site policy. Reported videos/contributions will not be deleted automatically.

If UMF still deletes your video after report, this happens with good cause and should be taken seriously. In this case, please read our community/site policy again and try to put yourself in our place.

Therefore, UMF requests users and participants to report all uploaded community videos/contributions they consider as non-compliant with our community/site policy for purpose of inspection.

Community/Site Policy

If you obey all following general guidelines concerning UMF community/site policy, you will steer clear of any trouble.

This UMF website only publishes videos/contributions dedicated to bike and extreme sports. Any other contents will not be published.

This UMF website rigorously bans videos/contributions containing any pornography and/or sexually explicit contents. Videos/contributions showing such contents in any form must not be transmitted and will not be published in any case. In addition, UMF cooperates closely with law enforcement authorities and will immediately report any form of child exploitation and/or abuse.

This UMF website will not publish any videos/contributions showing inappropriate and/or illegal actions such as any abuse of animals, drugs or weapons. Videos/contributions showing such contents in any form must not be transmitted.

This UMF website rigorously bans videos/contributions containing any form of explicit and/or gratuitous violence. Videos/contributions showing someone being physically and/or psychologically hurt and/or attacked must not be transmitted and will not be published in any case.

This UMF website rigorously bans videos/contributions containing any demonstration of shocking and/or disgusting events. Videos/contributions showing severe accidents, injuries, dead bodies and/or any other actions intended to shock and/or disgust must not be transmitted and will not be published in any case.

Copyright must be respected in any case. Users/participants are only allowed to transmit videos/contributions they have created themselves or are authorized to use. Therefore, this UMF website rigorously bans any videos/contributions created by someone else or containing elements under the copyright of someone else. This applies i. e. to music tracks, extracts of copyrighted programs and/or utilization of videos/contributions created by other users without necessary authorization. Therefore, videos/contributions violating any copyright must not be transmitted.

UMF supports freedom of speech and respects anyone's right to express also unpopular opinions. Nevertheless, this UMF website does not serve as platform for the propagation of radical, political and/or any other personal points of view with respect to any form of discrimination. We strictly ban any videos/contributions discriminating other persons and/or groups on the basis of race, ethnic origin, religion, disability, gender, age, veteran status and sexual orientation/gender identity. Videos/contributions containing any form of discrimination must not be transmitted and will not be published in any case.

UMF does not tolerate any form of ruthless behaviour, stalking, harassment, threat, privacy violation, intimidation and/or disclosure of other community members' personal data. The same applies to any incitation of others to commit infringements, violent acts and/or violations concerning our terms and conditions of use. Anyone caught committing one or several of such misdemeanours will be banned rigorously and permanently by UMF without exception.

Nobody likes spam. Therefore, do not create misleading descriptions, tags, titles or thumbnails in order to get more views.

Please take our community guidelines seriously and also to heart. Instead of looking for loopholes or ways of avoiding, please accept and respect our attitude and intention. THX!

UMF Encourages Community

Always remember: This is YOUR community. All UMF users have their share – so get going and join them!

Enjoy!

There is always something new and amazing to discover – thanks to our highly creative members. You could be one of them! So don't hesitate and express your own ideas!

Share your thoughts with others!

Feedback represents one important part of the experience. Respectful commentaries can be cool tools to make new friends and share stories with them. Enrich your UMF online time by leaving commentaries, rating videos or answering interesting clips via cinematic creativity. Otherwise, participate in sweepstakes and contests – it's completely up to you!

How to handle displeasing contents?

Sometimes you may not like the content of uploaded videos. If you consider the respective contribution as non-compliant with our community/site policy, please click on the "flag" button below to submit it for inspection by UMF staff. Otherwise, simply click on something else – is there any good reason to watch clips you don't like?

That's it! THX for your attention!

Yours, UMF
